AN INDEX OF MONUMENTAL MASONS &
SLATE ENGRAVERS IN THE EAST MIDLANDS

whose signed stones have been seen, or whose work is recorded in published sources

Roderick Cave

PRELIMINARY EDITION SEPTEMBER 2012

Author's preface

The entries are arranged alphabetically under the masons' names, followed by the town in which the mason worked, in [ ], brief notes on the masons, and then within each churchyard, in chronological order the dates and places (village churchyards) as which headstones have been seen.

Editor's preface

Roderick Cave emailed me his 'preliminary edition' about October 2012. He died June 2019 age 83. I prepared this online edition November 2025. Apart from adding a few comments and correcting occasionally wayward spelling, editorial activities were restricted to standardising punctuation, including conforming to the convention of using 'slash' for headstones commemorating two or more people (e.g. 1833/1845).

For those less familiar with these types of lists, note that Cave frequently uses the abbreviation 'fl.' for Latin 'floruit', English 'flourished'.

1. Notes made by RC from visits to the various churchyards, mostly collected in the period 2000– 2008.

2. Data collected by Alfred Henry Paget, The epitaphs in the graveyard and chapel of the Great Meeting, Leicester … and printed several years after his death … By Thomas Fielding Johnson. Leicester: Clarke & Satchell, 1912. These are indicated by LGM in the lists.

3. Data copied from the website index of 'Monuments in the churchyard of St Wistan, Wistow' at http://www.leicestershirevillages.com/wistow/monumentalinscriptions1.html; (and indicated as Wistow plus the website index numbers, e.g. Wistow C61). The other databases prepared by the Great Glen U3A for a variety of villages are similarly cited.
   [Sadly leicestershirevillages.com is now defunct. However I have retained all Cave's reference numbers. Bob Trubshaw.]

4. Entries for stones signed by masons based at Bingham, in the Bingham Heritage site http://www.binghamheritage.org.uk/churchyard/search_the_churchyard/search.php

5. Data collected from local directories and (very occasionally) from Leicestershire and Rutland censuses from 1841 and 1851 for some of the villages.

6. For churches in Leicester, the tombstones are identified as L+church name, as for All Saints (LAS), for St Leonards (LSL), for St Margarets (LSMg) for St Martin (LSMn) and St Mary (LSMy)

7. For entries for Stanford on Soar, data is copied from R. Merriman, The use of slate gravestones and their engravers, MA in English Local History, Leicester University 2000.

8. For Harborough slate engravers, data is taken from J. C. Davies, 'Harborough Slate Engravers', Transactions of the Leicester Archaeological and Historical Society, vol. 61, 1987, pp. 24–33.

9. Further data has been copied from the standard book, Frederick Burgess's English Churchyard Memorials (London: Lutterworth Press, 1963). Details have been copied for stonemasons in Leicestershire and neighbouring counties, and indicated by Burgess *ECM.

10. The record of Tombstones in the Graveyard of Loughborough Parish Church of All Saints, prepared by the Loughborough Archaeological and Historical Society; records the number of stones signed by a particular mason, but did not give dates of except of the earliest and last of the tombstones. In transcribing these (indicated by Tombstones Loughborough) I have necessarily omitted the interim dates .

11. Data for some south Nottinghamshire churchyards have been taken from the article by M.W. Barley,'Slate headstones in Nottinghamshire' in the Transactions of the Thoroton Society, 1948, pp. 69–86 (indicated by Barley). [Online at doi.org/10.5284/1115919 Bob Trubshaw.]

HIND FAMILY [Swithland]

The Hind family were lessees of the Swithland slate quarry by 1680, and there until 1811, and worked another nearby quarry from 1811 to 1849. A great proportion of Swithland tombstones came from their quarries, and no doubt many of the unsigned stones were engraved by their employees, but surprisingly few of those signed bear the name Hind.

Wilson, Samuel [Groby] Included by Burgess ECM as of Groby Quarry and Newtown Linford, fl. 1823–79.

WINFIELD FAMILY Worked in the Wymeswold area for a long period from the 1760s into the mid-nineteenth century: William Winfield aged 30 engraver was listed in the 1841 census, but not in the 1851 census; perhaps because he had moved elsewhere? Many of these stones listed are probably attributed incorrectly to one or another; those with the later dates (post-1832) must be the work of another younger man.

Winfield, –.
